

NEWS RELEASE FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Intuitive Research and Technology Corporation Employee Published in EDN Magazine

HUNTSVILLE, AL – February 14, 2007 – Intuitive Research and Technology Corporation (INTUITIVE) is pleased to announce that Ray Kendall, PE, Electrical Engineering Functional Lead for the ESSL & Developmental Programs, and recognized expert in the field of PSpice modeling and analysis, has authored an article, "User-friendly Model Simplifies Spice Op-Amp Simulation" published in the Jan. 4th, 2007 edition of EDN Magazine. EDN is a leading technical journal in the areas of electronic design, computers, communications, embedded, industrial and consumer electronics.

Mr. Kendall previously authored "Modular Macromodeling Techniques for Spice Simulators" also published in EDN Magazine.

Intuitive Research and Technology Corporation (INTUITIVE), a certified 8(a) Company and Small and Disadvantaged Business, provides a myriad of services in programmatic support, systems engineering, product development, production systems support, rapid prototyping, and technology management solutions to the Department of Defense, government agencies, and commercial companies.

For More Information:

Tonya Hendrix
(256) 922-9300 ext. 17
tonya.hendrix@irtc-hq.com
www.irtc-hq.com

A SINGULAR FOCUS...COMMITTED TO EXCELLENCE